

Hungarian Will Speak on America's Future

"Mutual Security and the Future of America" will be discussed at the third lecture of the Institute on World Affairs. Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, former finance minister of Hungary, will address the Institute tomorrow night at 8:15 p. m.

Dr. Nyaradi was born in Budapest. He received doctorate degrees in Laws and Political Science from the University of Budapest. He was banker and lawyer before becoming the last non-Communist finance minister of Hungary.

In 1947, immediately before Hungary's Communist recapitulation, Dr. Nyaradi attended a conference in Moscow. For seven months, he worked with Stalin's officials attempting to reach a settlement of a 200-million dollar reparations claim against Hungary.

Although a non-Communist, Dr. Nyaradi's presence at the conference was a necessity because of his familiarity with Hungary's economic situation. The story of his stay in Russia is told in his book, "My Ringside Seat in Moscow."

He was one of two men who dared to vote in favor of Hungary's participation in the western Marshall Plan.

When all opposition to Communism collapsed in Hungary, Dr. Nyaradi went into voluntary exile. He came to the United States in 1949.

Now a professor at large at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., Dr. Nyaradi is professor of history and political science and has lectured extensively in the country.

The lecture will be held in the auditorium.

OU Sponsors Aids Institute

Over 100 persons attended the two-day Vision, Visual Aids and Learning Institute last Friday and Saturday.

The Institute was provided to promote a greater understanding of the facts and factors in seeing and in using visual materials in the classroom.

Program speakers included V. C. Arnsperger, Wilmette, Ill.; Mrs. Bette Erickson, the University of Omaha; S. K. Guth, Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. Lincoln Miller, Illinois State Normal University; John M. Stroud, San Diego, Calif.; Clifford A. Welch, Treasure Island, San Francisco, and James Wright, Bethany, Okla.

The Institute was sponsored jointly by the Missouri Valley Optometric Society, the Cornhusker Chapter of the Illuminating Engineering Society and the College of Adult Education of the University of Omaha.

Lashinsky Receives Memorial Scholarship

The first Ray R. Ridge Memorial Scholarship was presented to Jay Lashinsky today. Lashinsky is a freshman, who is majoring in business administration.

Dr. Jay B. MacGregor, OU's Dean of Student Personnel, presented the $150 scholarship this morning. The scholarship was established last May by Mrs. Ray Ridge in the memory of her husband, who was an OU Regent until his death in 1950.

The scholarship is awarded each year to the June graduate of an Omaha high school, who will enter Omaha U. to major in business.

It also stipulates that he must be above average in scholarship and possess traits of character, personality, ambition and energy indicating a successful future in business. The boy must also need the financial aid to obtain a college education.

Cadets Pass ROTC Tests

Eighteen advanced AF-ROTC cadets have passed the written and practical examinations for the rank of cadet second lieutenant, according to Cadet Capt. Robert Biegele, commander of the ROTC Administrative Group.

The new lieutenants are Martin Blacker, William Beindorff, Gerald Campbell, Sebastiano Caporale, Paul Cherling, Gilbert Davis, Eugene Gray, Robert Driscoll and Robert Ernst.

Others are Bernard Lainsen, Sam Nanfite, Daniel Petersen, Richard Petersen, Fred Shinrock, James Sweetman, Maynard Tatelman, Arch Templeton and Ted Westman.

Practical examinations are given by Cadet Col. Robert Darrah, Cadet Col. Robert Stryker and Cadet Lt. Col. William Ryan.

Three cadets were also promoted to cadet corporal. They are Godfrey Horacek, Stanley Plotkin and Glen Uhe.

Cadet Capt. Riegel announced that corporal-tests have been discontinued until further notice due to the large number of failures. Biegele said that only about ten per cent of the cadets who took the corporal test passed it the first time it was given.

He added that this percentage dropped to about five per cent when the exam was given the second time. Biegele urged cadets to study harder before taking the exam in the future.

Students Will Elect Class Heads in Voting Tomorrow

'52 Gateway Nears All-American Rating Under Editor Moore

The Gateway reached a new high in the Associated Collegiate Press rating for the second semester of last year. The staff earned a total of 965 points for a top First Class Rating. Under the editorship of Tuck Moore, '52, the Gateway writers missed the coveted All-American award by 10 points.

The ACP service judges student publications in mechanical efficiency and in the effectiveness with which they serve their individual schools. By the point system, the ACP aids collegiate journalists in analyzing their mistakes, weaknesses in coverage, writing style, organization and treatment of news.

The Gateway received "excellent" ratings in society, feature, sports and news writing. Other "excellents" were given in makeup, typography and printing.

The first class award was regained last semester after The Gateway received a second class rating during the first semester of 1951-52.

Some of the highlights of The Gateway news last spring were the change of Deans, the flood on the Missouri, the Student Union building campaign and the athletic policy fight.

Former Editor Moore is now a regular staff member on the Council Bluffs Nonpareil.

Council Changes Site of Homecoming Sets

The Student Council has approved a plan to put the Homecoming displays in the Fieldhouse this year. The decision was made at a meeting Friday afternoon.

In the past, organization displays have been set up in rooms in the main building. Under the new plan each competing organization will have a section of the Fieldhouse allotted for display purposes.

The selection of council officers will be made after the freshman representatives have been chosen in tomorrow's all-school election.

ISA Regional Meet Attracts Members From 14 Universities in Nine States

Students and sponsors from nine states in the Middle West attended the Independent Students Association regional convention at OU Friday and Saturday.

With a total enrollment of 216 People, Jane Hoff, president of the Omaha U. ISA chapter, proclaimed the two-day convention a success.

Mixing fun with business, the ISA'ers heard speakers, attended panel discussions, debates, a picnic and a dance.

Main speakers were Rev. Rex Knowles, pastor of the Presbyterian-Congregational House at the University of Nebraska and J. Francis McDermott, reigning king of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Rev. Knowles spoke at the opening luncheon Friday noon on the topic "Leadership and Fellowship." Mr. McDermott spoke at the banquet Saturday night on "Education—What For?"

be dismissed at 8 p. m. The lecture will be at 8:15 in the auditorium.

In Jerusalem, Mr. Goitein edited the "Palestine Bulletin." For many years he was associated with a leading Arab lawyer in Jerusalem. During the 1939 Arab riots, Mr. Goitein was saved from kidnapping by Arab rebels through the intervention of an Arab friend.

Upon the establishment of the State of Israel, Mr. Goitein was offered a judgeship in the Supreme Court. In 1949, he was appointed Consul General of Israel to the Union of South Africa. In 1951, he was appointed Minister of Israel to the United States.

Mr. Goitein will be introduced by Omaha publisher, David Blacker.

Faculty Members Collect Community Chest Cards

As of Friday afternoon, faculty members contacting business establishments for Community Chest pledge cards, had received over $700 in pledges. Canvassing was to be completed by Saturday afternoon.

The ten members who have been canvassing the district include Donald Emery and Robert S. McGranahan, co-chairmen; Clifford Ellis, Donald Pfisterer and Glen Lewis. Other workers are Harlan Cain, Frank Gorman, William Utley, Jack Woods and Col. Allen Wood.

New Voice on PA Issues Summons

The sweep second hand on the clock is dragging its two slower friends around in an endless circle . . . time spins a web of silence over the University's halls . . . suddenly, a discordant buzzer sounds, doors swing open and the silent web is pushed aside by hundreds of conversations.

Then the students hear the inimitable gargle of the loudspeaker system, mangling a new list of names . . . lately, however, hall hounds have heard something new when that list of names is read . . . something that even the loud-speaker couldn't squelch.

The new voice has an exotic accent . . . suggesting adventures in a foreign land.

Who is this intriguing "name-caller"? Many have satisfied their curiosity and barged into the student lounge to see.

The voice behind the mike belongs to pretty Mrs. Helen Schmidt from the little village of Toere in Hungary. At present Mrs. Schmidt's official title is "student lounge hostess."

It is her job to reach into her bag of information and direct confused freshmen to all parts of the building and to try to keep the usual riot in the lounge down to a slight case of chaos.

Escapes Like Pioneers

Unfortunately, Mrs. Schmidt is used to chaos. In 1945 she was forced to make a choice between communist oppression and freedom. Mrs. Schmidt chose the latter and, in an escape reminiscent of the pioneers push westward, made a four day trip into Austria.

The mode of travel was a caravan of 16 covered wagons . . . Mrs. Schmidt's family, and friends shared her need to escape.

Mrs. Schmidt left more than just the communist threat of violence behind. She also left her home, her clothing, valuables, and former security.

Mrs. Schmidt's husband was a civil engineer employed by the Hungarian Army . . . he holds a university degree. Now he works in an Omaha factory.

Earns College Degree

Our attractive lounge hostess has also walked the halls of an European University. Mrs. Schmidt graduated from Budapest University with a major in Philosophy. She also speaks or has an understanding of Hungarian, German, French, English, Slavik, Bohemian, and Polish.

Her education was a vital factor in her employment by the British Army after her escape from her homeland. She was an interpreter in their Civil Liaison Office.

Mrs. Schmidt drew a striking contrast between European and American Universities. In Europe the teaching program is on a more theoretical basis while in America the stress is on practicality.

Hears Hall Noise

When she first came to Omaha University, the noise in the halls jarred her ears.

"In Europe," she said, "even between classes, the halls were as silent as a church." It seems that over there, a university held some kind of awe and reverence for its students.

As for her new life in America, Mrs. Schmidt had a simple but eloquent comment, "We appreciate being in this country very much . . . Here we can be human again."

Angels Flight Elects New Officers for Year

The Omaha University's Angels Flight met last Wednesday, at 4 p. m. in room 191.

The new Angel leaders are Phyllis Wilkie, flight leader; Bonnie Coleman, operations officer; Derelle Blumer, adjutant recorder; Ruth Longville, comptroller; Joyce Johnson, public relations officer; Marilyn Summers, publications officer.

How to Get Through College Very Easily

Here are "10 Ways to Get Through College Without Even Trying," as written in Pageant magazine by Prof. Robert Tyson of Hunter College.

1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. If you don't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.
2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.
3. Nod frequently and murmur "How true!" To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.
4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake)
5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.
6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.
7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.
8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you math in psychology class and psychology in math class, match the books for size and color.
9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your younger brother's second reader at that.
10. Call attention to his writing. Produces an exquisitely pleasant experience connected with you. If you know he's writ-

Supermorphs Roam Halls

by Bob Peck

There is the old familiar saying that goes, "No matter how good something is, there is always one better."

This was born out last week here at school. Then, I printed that Roger Dunbar was an endomorph's ideal. But, no sooner had the paper come out, than I spotted something that made my eyes bulge.

Of course you all realize that an endomorph is a long, lean person. An ectomorph is an overweight sole, and a mesomorph, bless their sickeningly normal builds, is the in between . . . a well built critter.

Super Morph

Down the hall came the endomorph of all endomorphs. Truly this was a super endomorph. Yes, it was none other than Dick "Cuban" Smith, reporting to Dunbar, captain of the endo's, for membership.

After talking with Smith, it was decided that this is really an endomorph's world. Who else could confine himself to the space allotted a football fan by the numbers on bleachers and still look out over the crowd.

Also, the new modern American automobiles will allow nearly any endomorph room to get in, especially if it is a convertible.

Meso's

Enough for the endomorphs. Although there are many of them, it seems that Omaha University is overrun with mesomorphs.

These are without a doubt the most hated kind of people in all the world.

They are not only hated by endomorphs, but their perfect bodies are despised by ectomorphs, the minority of the three.

Undecided

Then there are the kind of people who can't make up their minds whether to be an endomorph or a mesomorph. It seems that the Air Force prefers mesomorphs, so John Courtwright is trying to be one in a few weeks.

Then there is Maynard Tatem. A short time ago Maynard was a specimen of an ectomorph. But, a few short months and 40 pounds later, he is truly a "meso." See you 'morphs around . . .

ten a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

Any similarity to the above-mentioned theoretical professors and OU professors is purely intentional. As the saying goes, "If the shoe fits . . ."

Night Football? . . .

"A crowd of 1,200 spirited fans cheer Omaha U. football team to victory!"

Sound good? The part about the "spirited" fans is wonderful—but what about that 1,200? Not very large, is it?

The Gateway feels that spirit at OU is improving rapidly, but the small crowds overshadow the improvement. We feel that night football is the answer.

What could be gained by night football? Would the output for new lights be offset by increased attendance? These are the questions which face the Omaha U. administration.

If the playing of night football would attract enough fans, the initial cost of lights would be a small risk. We feel that the gains would greatly offset the cost!

First, and most obviously, it is useless for OU to buck Nebraska for football crowds. With both teams playing on the same afternoon, thousands of Omaha fans jam the Cornhusker stadium—even to see teams Omaha U. plays during the same season.

And if Nebraska is not playing at home? Then OU must compete with direct broadcast of the game anyway. In either case, the Indians must buck television broadcasts on both Omaha TV stations. Playing at night, we would be free of all these other attractions!

Another important factor is the staggering number of OU students who work on Saturdays. These students may be among the most spirited at the University, but have no possible way to see their team in action. Obviously, night football would give them a chance!

Now you may ask: "What happened to the lights Omaha U. used to own?"

Those lights were sold to Benson High School in 1950 for $750. Why? Because they were relatively old-fashioned — and because the cost of moving them and the light poles out to OU would have been overwhelming.

We feel, then, that the answer is night football. Why buck Nebraska, radio and television broadcasts and the call of jobs on Saturday afternoons?

The OU stadium holds 4,600 people. And the athletic plant cost one-million dollars—yet the stadium stands nearly empty when OU plays football on Saturday afternoons.

Ed. Note: Write to the editor or come in and tell us what you think about night football.

Room 173 Houses Function Supposedly Important to OU

By Lorrie Lemen and Jerry Kelley

How many times have you passed the door labeled "173?"

Do you know what is hidden behind that frosted window? Why don't they have a clear glass pane like they do in the other doors of the building?

Strange noises often emerge from behind that closed door. The clank of a machine, the whirr of other equipment, the stutter of typewriters . . . what are they doing?

If you peek through the keyhole into this room, you will find a blur of green. You may be able to distinguish the green walls from the green desks and the green tile counters. Flowered curtains give the room a strange brightness.

Occasionally you might see the flash of a red light, or notice a woman dash across the room.

You see tall stacks of papers standing on the counter. Think of the havoc you could raise with an electric fan. In fact, the whole idea might add brightness to the room as white papers fly in all directions.

Here comes a professor. He pauses with his hand on the door-knob, checking to see if he's being followed. Convinced that he has eluded his pursuer, he stealthily speaks into the room. Soon he comes back out, again checking to see if anyone is watching. He seems to have left a paper inside.

You'll find out within about a week what he left inside that room. The secret will be revealed, to you in the form of a white sheet of paper on your desk in class. It seems there is writing on the paper—requiring an answer . . . or rather several answers. Now you know.

Room 173 is where the steno bureau prints up the tests which grinning professors present to their classes with amazing regularity. Those machines are the mimeographs and folding machines, preparing the copies of the tests.

But all is not so evil in Room 173. It was through some of the effort of the steno bureau that OU was able to distribute literature and eventually gain an additional mill on the city tax levy.

And it is through the steno bureau that you are notified of coming events through the flash sheets found on the benches in the halls.

If it weren't for those tests, the steno bureau could be on pretty friendly terms with the students. But now frosted glass and locked doors seem to be important.

ATTENTION

Movies of Omaha University football games will be resumed at noon today with the repeat showing of last Saturday's Washburn game. They will be shown in the auditorium.

The weekly highlights of the Indian gridgers in action were cancelled last Tuesday because of the conflict with television broadcasts of the World Series.

Hereafter, the films will be presented each Tuesday noon in the auditorium. Each Tuesday's movies will be of the game played the previous Saturday.

All students, faculty and staff members will be admitted free of charge to the showings.

South Dakota Routs Omaha '11,' 27-13

Welling, Christie Figure in Both Indian Scoring Plays

Omaha University's football fortunes on the road continued to slump Saturday night, as the Indian gridmen fell victim to a hard running South Dakota University eleven, 27-13, in Vermillion, South Dakota.

It was the second loss of the season for the Omahans and also the second loss in as many games on the road. Morningside downed the Redmen in Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 27, for their only other defeat of the year.

Indians Score Early

After scoring early in the game to take a 7-0 lead, it looked as if the Indians might outfox the experts and upset the SoDaks. But, South Dakota had different ideas and managed a 7-7 tie going into the second stanza.

Early in this period the South Dakota squad capitalized on brilliant line play to take the lead, which they never relinquished.

With Omaha in possession deep in their own territory, several burly SoDak linemen broke through and caused Halfback Jerry Ziehe to fumble. The ball rolled into the end zone where South Dakota End Jim Horan recovered for a touchdown.

Welling Passes for Score

A few minutes later Ralph Polenz turned in his second long run of the evening, going forty yards to the end zone to give South Dakota a 20-7 halftime lead.

Omaha's initial touchdown came with twelve minutes gone in the opening quarter. After Jerry Welling passes to Aksel Schmidt and Bob Rose had consumed most of the yardage in a drive to the SoDak eight, Welling passed to Keith Christie for the score.

Schmidt converted to give the Indians their seven point lead.

Lateral Play Works

Another Welling to Christie pass, followed by a lateral to Tony Roth, gave Omaha their final touchdown for the evening. The play was good for twenty yards.

Schmidt again converted, but the play was nullified by a fifteen yard penalty and the second try fell short.

The final SoDak score came late in the fourth period when Bob Waggoner intercepted a Welling pass and ran it back to the Indian fifteen. On the next play Fullback Arlin Haakinson hit center for the touchdown.

Westin Leads ROTC To 32-0 Grid Victory

Completing the first week of play in the intramural football league ROTC rolled to an easy 32-0 conquest of Lambda Chi Alpha Friday afternoon.

The Air Force got into action early as Dick Westin took a punt on his own thirty and raced seventy yards to score. Westin was also the key to the next two touchdowns as he passed twice to Archie Templeton for scoring plays of thirty and forty yards.

Bob Driscoll gave the ROTC its fourth score on a twenty yard run. Westin accounted for the final TD on a seven yard aerial to Larry Garghar.

Westin and Driscoll shared honors in the extra point department with one apiece.

Lambda Chi threatened on several occasions, but each time their drive was ended by ROTC pass interceptions.

Because of the addition of two more teams to the league, this week's schedule has been re-

Physical Education Majors Hold First Meeting of Year

Omaha University's PE Majors club met for the first time this year yesterday afternoon in the Physical Education locker room.

During the meeting the club outgoing year, their second on the Indian campus. They also discussed plans to apply for membership in the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

If the Omaha group is accepted in the national organization they will automatically become affiliated with the Nebraska Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Merlyn Fratt acted as temporary chairman at Thursday's meeting. Permanent officers are due to be elected during a meeting tomorrow night in the Fieldhouse locker room.

The club has a potential enrollment of from 45 to 50 members. Twenty-five members were present at the Thursday meeting.

Tom Brock, head of the new physical education department, is the club sponsor. Brock has issued an invitation to all PE majors or minors to attend the meeting tomorrow night.

vamped to include four games. The contests next week and every week hereafter will be played on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Pi Kappa Alpha and ROTC met yesterday in the first game of the week. This afternoon Sigma Phi Epsilon meets Theta Chi and tomorrow afternoon the Blackhaws and ISA will battle. Friday Phi Epsilon Pi meets Lambda Chi in the week's finale.

Phi Epsilon Pi and Blackhaws are the new additions to the loop.

Yelkin Reveals Cage Slate; Drill Sessions Resumed

Basketball drills were temporarily postponed last week due to the resurfacing of the Fieldhouse floor proper.

Sessions have been scheduled this week beginning at 3. Lettermen are in charge of squads under the over-all direction of basketball coach Virg Yelkin.

At present, baskets have been erected at the east end of the Fieldhouse for the preliminary workouts. Nov. 3 is the date for the assembling of the playing floor.

Season Opens Nov. 26

The 23 game cage schedule opens Nov. 26 against the Alumni. College of Emporia opens the regular home game card on Dec. 1.

Fourteen of the 23 games are slated for the Fieldhouse hardwood while the only long trip takes the Omaha cagers to Topeka and Fort Hays, Kans., on Dec. 12 and 13.

Such standbys as Morningside, Peru (Nebr.) State, Washburn, Fort Hays (Kans.) State, Simpson, Creighton and Doane, are back to test the Omaha cage squad.

Creighton Highlights Season

Newcomers to the slate include Wayne (Nebr.) State, Iowa Central, Emporia (Kans.) State, South Dakota Northern, South Dakota Wesleyan and Sterling College.

The two frays with Creighton highlight the season. Dates for the games are Feb. 2 and 14, the former scheduled for the home lot. The Bluejays won both games from the Indians last year, 58-47 and 90-40.

The aim of the Omaha five is an NAIB berth at Kansas City in the first week of March. Last year, in the regionals in York, Nebr., the Red and Black were nosed out of the finals.

State Foes Return

OU copped the first tilt from Nebraska Wesleyan, 68-65, but dropped the important final clash to Chadron, 71-67.

Bids to the tourney depends on the Omaha record against opponents in the state. Last season the Omahans won all six games scheduled with state colleges.

This year's state foes on the card include rivals Peru and Doane with Wayne replacing Nebraska Wesleyan.
